schools, and other community partners. In 2018, 3,001 volunteers contributed 64,058 service hours nearly doubling the size of VEAP staff. The total value of volunteer service hours contributed was strengths-based approach to access resources to prevent homelessness and stabilize income. These staff also meet with new food clients to better understand the situation that precipitated their food emergency. Through the assessment process, clients are connected with other VEAP programs and community resources to help them regain stability quickly. Individuals and families accessing financial assistance to prevent homelessness through the VEAP Social Services program are spending between 60-80% of their income on rent. Three months post program exit, 95% of survey participants are at the same residence, and there's a 25% increase in those who are paying less than 65% of their income to rent. At exit, there's a 70% decrease in number of households paying more than 80% of their income on rent compared to entry.
